College to incoming students. The organizers, better known as Actively Counseling Entering Students (ACES) and headed by SGA President Patti Peabody, expected orient approximately 175 students. Surprisingly, their expectations were almost doubled because of an impressive increase in student enrollment. For the first time, unusually long lines were prevalent. Fortunately, ACES had no problem accomodating the new students and successfully achieved their goal.

What exactly is the goal or purpose of ACES? The ACES orientation is designed to fulfill the needs of the new students by introducing them to the academic structure, the extracurricular activities, and the social environment of Augusta College. The students become familiarized with the facilities, services, faculty and fellow students. ACES attempts to facilitate the new student make a successful transition to college life. Grouped according to major, the new students are directed by student-faculty teams who personalize the program for group members. Interest sessions provide introductory seminars on study skills, time management, and career development. Team leaders, student government members, familiarize the incoming students with the facilities by guided campus and library tours. Displays in the College Activity Center provided the new students with information concerning the extracurricular activities that are available at AC. ACES also finds time during this busy day to have a group discussion. The group discussion provides an opportunity for the students to inquire about things that may be unclear. In summary, ACES is to orient new students and that goal is accomplished with perfection.

Something Is Missing!

As the beginning of Fall Quarter approached, faculty and students were diligently preparing for what they hoped to be a successful quarter at Augusta College. Everyone expected a few changes, some good and some bad. One change, however, caught the student body by surprise. The surprise was what they were not hearing — bells!

"To bell or not to bell" became the question asked by everyone. Many students felt having the bells provided more of a high school atmosphere, which we all try to escape once enrolled in college. The controversy erupted when students began complaining that professors were too involved in their lecture that they occasionally ran over class time, causing students to be late for their next class.

A question posed on the Student Referendum during Fall Quarter indicated that 52% of the students wanted some form of bells, either at the beginning of class, at the end, or both, while 48% wanted no bells at all. Because a solution to the problem has not been proposed, the halls at Augusta College shall remain silent.

In The CAC!

There had been a lot of construction in the CAC during the fall and summer quarters. Walls were knocked down, new carpet was laid, and new display cases were added. The food service changed their menu, moved things around, and even added a salad bar. The CAC is a favorite campus gathering place and all the changes were made to accomodate the students. The CAC is the home of Job Placement, Student Activities, and the Bookstore. There is always something going on in the CAC.

At Night

Something's Going On At Night!

You had better believe something is going on at Augusta College at night. The main and most important things going on are instruction and learning. Thirty-five percent of the student population attends evening classes. However, some of these students attend day classes as well. Various undergraduate classes are offered at night, but the most prevalent are graduate education and graduate business classes. Almost one-fifth of the college's total population is composed of graduate students. Because of this factor, night classes continue to be very popular.

There are also other things going on at night at AC. Variuous plays are performed during the evening at the Maxwell Performing Arts Theatre throughout the year. Lyceum Series, special lectures, and organizational meetings also occur at night. Last, but certainly not least, one must not forget that the library and snackbars continue to provide their services throughout the evening.

In Administration

With the retirement of Dr. George A, Christenberry as President of Augusta College, the Board of Regents and Augusta College was faced with the challenge of selecting a new president. Mr. F. William Monge, acting president of Augusta College, will serve until June 30, 1987.

A special Presidential Search and Screen Committee, headed by Dr. Stephen Hobbs, was formed to review the applicants. Although the number of applicants totaled 164, the field was narrowed to three candidates. The three candidates are Dr. William H. Fulkerson, Jr., President, Adams State College, Alamosa, Colorado; Dr. Oscar C. Page, Vice President for Academic Affairs and Dean, Lander College, Greenwood, South Carolina; and Dr. Richard S. Wallace, Vice President for Academic Affairs, Augusta College, Augusta, Georgia.

The names of the final candidates were sent to the Board of Regents of the University System of Georgia in Atlanta. The candidates were interviewed by the Regents special selection committee and Chancellor H. Dean Propst. The Board of Regents decision was to be announced in early January.

We, the faculty and students at Augusta College, welcome the new ideas of the candidates, and would be honored to have any one of these highly qualified gentlemen to serve as our next president.

Something More Than Just A

Campus

Augusta College is something more than just a school, it's campus has a history that dates back to the 18th century. Augusta College was the location of the Freeman Walker plantation. In 1826, Walker sold the land to the United States government for the building of an arsenal. Bellevue Hall is the site of the Walker home, however the original home was destroyed in a fire. The Walker Family cemetery is located on the Arsenal Ave. side of campus, alongside the arsenal cemetary. The quad, which consists of Payne Hall, Basin Hall, Fanning Hall, and the President's Home, is all part of the original arsenal. For over 130 years the campus served as a U.S. arsenal except during the Civil War when it was under Confederate control. In 1955, the arsenal was closed and the land was then used for the Junior College of Augusta. In 1963 the Junior College of Augusta was given senior status and became Augusta College.

Something
Extraordinary
Is Going On!

Everyone has heard the rumors of ghosts, catacomes, and secret passages that are in the old arsenal quad. To set the record straight, there are no known catacomes or secret passages, but there are old root cellers which give the impression of being more than what they really are.

What is harder to disprove is the sightings and other various evidence of ghosts. The most often seen ghost is the Confederate soldier which is seen in the Arsenal Avenue cemetary. It is said a young Confederate soldier stationed here during the Civil War had fallen in love with the Commanding Officer's daughter. He desparately wanted to marry her, but the Commander would not give him permission, feeling his daughter was meant for better things in life. Shortly afterwards, the Commander had the young soldier transferred into a more active unit. The young soldier died in combat defending Georgia against the Union Army. It is said that the young soldier's spirit returned to the arsenal in search of his lost love.

There are two ghosts which reside in the President's home. The first ghost is that of a commander's nephew who was shot on the back stairs of the house. The young man had been hired by his uncle as a clerk for the post. Most of the other soldiers stationed here were jealous of the young man because of the preferential treatment he received from his uncle. One day the young man was going to dinner at his uncles and was shot and killed by a sniper.

The second ghost is that of a commanding officer's wife. It is said that she was poisoned by her husband after she discovered that he was having an affair with a local woman. She is seen in one of the upstairs bedrooms staring out of the window or going through the closets.

The last story is one of unrequited love. While visiting the arsenal in the late 1800's, Emily Galt fell in love with one of the soldiers stationed here. They had plans to go into Augusta to marry. Emily's father found out and locked her in the bedroom of the Freeman Walker home. While locked in the bedroom, Emily scratched her name in a pane of glass with the diamond engagement ring her love had given her. Emily and her love never married. It is said that some nights you can hear the whispered arguments between Emily and her father.

Between Classes!

No matter how interesting a class is or how much fun one seems to be having during class, no one can wait for that ten glorified minutes between classes. As soon as the professor dismisses class, everyone almost kills each other getting out the door. Some flock to the College Activity Center to meet "the gang" and others meet that "special person" at that "special place." Those that overslept rush to the snackbar to get that morning coffee or Coke, while several rush to the restrooms.

Many try to quickly prepare for that dreaded quiz promised to them the day before and some attempt to track down their professor to explain that their assignment is incomplete due to extenuating circumstances. No matter how those precious ten minutes are used, there is definitely a variety of things going on between classes!

Richard S. Wallace
President

It is my hope that Augusta College in the year 2000 will be the same, but different. I see no reason to change the basic directions of our academic programs. We are doing the right things. It would not be economically feasible to add programs of fundamentally different natures. It would be nice to think in terms of having engineering programs, but, realistically, the State of Georgia cannot afford a proliferation of engineering education. The change that we need to work toward is improved quality. We have many first-rate academic programs on this campus already. Let us hope that by the year 2000 these programs will be even better, and all the others will be close to the same quality. The word "excellence" is overused these days, but I don't know any other way to describe our general goal. We want to be an excellent college.

Outstanding Faculty Member For 1987 — Dr. Edward Pettit

The following statement was authored by a student who nominated Dr. Pettit for the Outstanding Faculty Member Award for 1987:

"Dr. Pettit is one of those rare and wonderful people who really loves teaching. It is this attitude that sets him apart. He is as genuinely interested in the weakest student as he is in the strongest. He cares how his students perform. His tests and labs are very challenging (to the point of being legendary). He is very demanding, very tough, and expects more than you can believe you can accomplish. But you do, because you do not hesitate to consult or confer with him; the group of students that can always be found in the faculty suite outside his office is evidence of that. He does not patronize, judge, make you feel that you are imposing, but very quietly and efficiently helps pinpoint the problem and offers possible directions to pursue to find the solution. And when you do find a bug, complete a course, get a lab running, finally understand some elusive concept, you have a real sense of accomplishment because you have done it yourself,you have learned a lot in the process, and the learning was meaningful. You have the freedom to attempt difficult things because Dr. Pettit is there."

Wins Louis K. Bell Alumni Research Award

This year's Louis K. Bell Alumni Research Award competition turned out to be different. We recognized, definitively, that good scholarship can take many and diverse forms. The winner of this year's award submitted not a single word of published text. He was declared winner on the basis of 150 slides showing his outstanding works of art in ceramics and metal. Judges at three different universities felt that these slides clearly indicated excellence in the faculty member's chosen scholarly pursuit. It is a pleasure to announce that Mr. Jack King is this year's Bell Alumni Research Award winner.

A.C. Basketball Climbs To The Top!

The Men's Basketball Team continued in its struggle to become the best. Many of their losses were very close ones, often by only 2 or 3 points. In addition, injuries held back otherwise excellent players. Indeed, talent was not a shortcoming: the team is loaded with it. Next season, we may see an even better team — one that's on the winning side of the close ones.

Women Perform Impressively

Placing second at the end of the season in the Big South conference was one of the many high points of the season of the Women's Basketball Team. The hard work and talent of the players and coach showed through. This coming season should be even better, perhaps including the conference championship!

Baseball Team Finishes A Mixed Season

The baseball team, with mostly a winning record through midseason, faltered near the end and posted a 20-23 record this season. Among their most spectacular wins was a 15-1 victory over Savannah State. Despite this season's record, A.C. will still remain a force to be reckoned with in the Big South Conference

TEAM MEMBERS:

Soccer Team Strives To Make It To The Top

Although their record of 4-12 may not have reflected it, Augusta College's Soccer Team has made definite improvements in their struggle to become the best. Their record suffered partly because of a very difficult schedule — probably the most challenging ever and reflective of the kinds of opponents (like Coastal Carolina & UNC — Asheville) they will face in future seasons. Among the hottest players of the season were Tommy Jackson, Eddie Izzo and Doug Trott. One of the team's most spectacular wins was their 1-0 victory over the highly successful Georgia Southern Team.

The future looks brighter for the A.C. Soccer Team. Coach Lowell Barnhardt feels that although next season won't be any easier than this one, benefits such as a highly enthusiastic team with some new athletes will make this team a forceful opponent.

Swimmers Stroke To A Strong Season

A.C.'s Women's Swim Team had a strong season against their competitors. Many of the meets that they lost were due to a lack of eligible swimmers. Consequently, those meets were very close in score. With more swimmers to complement the already impressive array of talent, the swim team should have an even better upcoming season.

TEAM MEMBERS:

Lady Jaguars Continue To Improve

Much of this year's Women's Volleyball Team consisted of new players, but the team continued to make progress, building on the groundwork laid last year. The season got off to a disappointing start, with the Lady Jags losing many games early in the season. The Lady Jags were able to pull out of their slump, however, and managed to produce a 4-game winning streak before faltering against Columbia College. The Lady Jags finished 5-16 for the year — indicative of the strides made. Even the coach of a rival college, Campbell, was forced to admit that he was "really impressed with how much (the Lady Jags) improved since last year!"

Golf Team Wins Big South Tournament Again!

Coach Ernie Lanford said that the Jaguar golf team "struggled quite a bit this year," but added, "This is one of the hardest working groups I've ever had. That usually pays off somewhere down the line." The payoff for Augusta College's golfers — second place finishes in four southeastern tournaments and outright victories in the Augusta College/Forest Hills Invitational, the University of Akron Invitational and, for the third straight time, the Big South Tournament!

Tennis Has It's Ups And Downs

The Tennis teams offered mixed performances during the 1987 season. Though the men's team did not fare well this seson, they continued to work hard and show the potential for better times ahead. The women's team, meanwhile, managed to develop a more productive season. Though their conference record was 4-5, the women had an overall record of 8-6.

Cross Country Teams Continue To Improve

The Men's & Women's Cross-Country teams continued to improve this year. They travelled to such places as the Georgia Collegiate Cross Country Championships where they placed 11th out of dozens of teams from around the state. Both teams are sure to continue improving with next year's season.
